Live Streaming

Our apologies for the problems with the Live Streaming last Sunday morning. Chris and John Johnson have spent some time getting to the root of the problem and it would seem that it was an issue with the software. They have managed to fix it (as evidenced by the streaming of the Wednesday Eucharist) and therefore, God willing, we should be all ok to resume the Sunday live streaming this weekend which you will find at the usual places.

If you missed the service last Sunday (or couldn't hear the music – another, separate problem!), do go to our website to watch it

- <http://www.stgeorgesnews.org/resources.html> - or watch it on our YouTube channel. Many thanks to Richard Spurgeon for getting the hymns and motet put back in such that you can hear them!

Church Opening

A small team will shortly be undertaking a risk assessment in church to consider the feasibility of opening for private prayer. We can make no promises in this regard as there is much to consider but we will feed back to you all just as soon as we can.

St George's News

This is the final call for contributions for the next issue of our parish magazine please - any articles gratefully received. Please don't forget that any third-party material needs to have the author's permission for copyright reasons.

Please forward your contributions by email to: feedback@stgeorgesnews.org
Many thanks.
